

To develop a character description of a spy.

Here is a picture of Bond. It is your job to develop your own spy. This can be based on Bond. Male or female and you need to tell us all about them. Clothing? Personality? Weapons? You can do this by telling us about the way he talks, walks and other types of body language.

E.g. Bond slowly closed his eyes and a smirk grew across his face as M grilled him about his latest mission.

You could draw or make your own Bond character to support you in your description!
